Notice of Privacy Practices

This notice describes how your health information may be used and disclosed and how you can access this information. Please review carefully.

We (staff) and David Mohler, M.D. have always kept your health information secure and confidential. A new law went into effect April 14, 2003 that requires us to continue maintaining your privacy, to give you this notice and to follow the terms of this notice.

The law permits us to use or disclose your health information to those involved in your health care treatment.

We may use or disclose your health information for payment of your services. Dr. David Mohler's billing office may need to submit additional medical documentation in order to appeal your claim with our office. We may need to provide your medical records to other outside health care providers in order to coordinate the best health care for you. We may need to share your medical information in order to refill prescriptions or order additional healthcare with outside agencies.

We may need to contact you and leave information on your answering machine. We will only leave pertinent information on your answering machine.

In an emergency, we may disclose your health information to an immediate family member or a legally responsible party for your health care. When required by law, we will release your medical records.

On each visit you will be given a copy of your transcription for your records. It will be the patient's responsibility to not leave your medical information in eye's view. When requesting Dr. David Mohler's office to transfer your medical records to another practice there is a fee to cover copying and mailing. We will require a written, detailed and signed request from you the patient.

You are entitled to a copy of this HIPAA privacy statement.
